About CDT

At the Center for Democracy & Technology (CDT), we fight to advance civil rights and civil liberties in the digital age. We advocate to policymakers and the courts in the U.S. and Europe, engage with companies to improve their policies and product designs, and shape public opinion on major tech policy issues. In addition to our advocacy work, CDT's research team produces deep-dive original scholarship to explore novel solutions to pressing issues in technology policy.

Established in 1994, CDT is the leading nonpartisan, multi-stakeholder convener and a trusted voice in the tech policy space.
